LOAN DISABILITY DISCHARGE

The U.S. Department of Education has indicated you had a discharged loan due to a total permanent disability. Before you can be considered for additional federal student loans, you must do the following:

1. Provide a written statement from your physician on letterhead certifying:
 - Your physical condition will allow you to engage in substantial gainful activity. This is defined by the U.S. Department of Education as a situation in which a borrower is sufficiently physically recovered to be capable of attending college;
 - Your physical condition will allow you to successfully complete a college program of study;
 - Your physical condition will allow you to be able to secure employment in order to repay the new federal student loans being offered to you.

2. Sign the statement below acknowledging your loan obligation.

When you submit this document with the statement from your physician, we will be able to continue processing your application for loan eligibility.

Sincerely,

Financial Aid & Scholarships

I acknowledge that any loan obligation incurred through the University of Nevada, Las Vegas on or after the date of my signature on this statement, cannot be cancelled in the future on the basis of any present impairment, unless that condition substantially deteriorates. A request for cancellation based on any currently existing condition must document substantial deterioration after the date of the signing of this statement.
